3. Identify the organization that is legally and financially responsible for the conduct of the activities supported by the award.

Oregon Health Network is a 501(c) 3 organization and is responsible for the FCC award.

4. Explain how the project is being coordinated throughout the state or region.

OHN has and continues to actively engage stakeholders at the state and national level in order to elevate and maximize the collaborative efforts and knowledge of key players in health care, health care education, telemedicine/telehealth and policy as it relates to the ongoing health and sustainability of the RHCPPs. With over 241 sites actively engaged and expected to join the network as a result of the RHCPP subsidy, we continue to gain awareness and build momentum (interest) at all levels. We will continue to maximize and leverage the influence of “champion” community health care/education anchor institution participants to drive use and full adoption of the network as well as to bring on new participants. Additionally, as our participation base expands and news of how select OHN participants intend to make full use of their new connection, and test results measuring the before and after OHN connection are revealed, OHN will have successfully transitioned from being only that of a project implementer on to a customer service driven organization that identifies and drives value to its members for mass use and adoption.

Out of our daily work came the realization that OHN had the opportunity to elevate the discussion at a regional, state, and national level by aligning vision through a set of 12 Healthcare IT Best Practices. These 12 Best Practices shatter the silos that has existed in traditional healthcare delivery and challenges the healthcare community to think as a synergistic, interdependent ecosystem.

5. Identify all health care facilities included in the network.

a. Provide address (including county), zip code, Rural Urban Commuting Area (RUCA) code (including primary and secondary), six-digit census tract, and phone number for each health care facility participating in the network.

The information requested is provided in Attachment A.

b. For each participating institution, indicate whether it is:

- i. Public or non-public;
- ii. Not-for-profit or for-profit;
- iii. An eligible health care provider or ineligible health-care provider with an explanation of why the health care facility is eligible under section 254 of the 1996 Act and the Commission’s rules or a description of the type of ineligible health care provider entity.

The information requested is provided in Attachment A.

6. Network Narrative: In the first quarterly report following the completion of the competitive bidding process and the selection of vendors, the selected participant must submit an updated technical description of the communications network that it intends to implement, which takes into account the results its network design studies and negotiations with its vendors. This technical description should provide, where applicable:

- a. Brief description of the backbone network of the dedicated health care network, e.g., MPLS network, carrier-provided VPN, a SONET ring;

See “e” answer below

- b. Explanation of how health care provider sites will connect to (or access) the network, including the access technologies/services and transmission speeds;

See “e” answer below

- c. Explanation of how and where the network will connect to a national backbone such as NLR or Internet2;

See “e” answer below

- d. Number of miles of fiber construction, and whether the fiber is buried or aerial;

See “e” answer below

- e. Special systems or services for network management or maintenance (if applicable) and where such systems reside or are based.

Prior to OHN, health facilities had two basic choices for data network connectivity. They could lease dedicated lines between pairs of locations they wished to connect or they could use the public Internet. Leased line solutions for data are similar to the earliest days of telephony before the advent of central office telephone switches, when conversations were possible only between two points on the opposite ends of a line. Once central office switches were introduced into telephony, customers only needed one line to the central office switch and could be connected there to any other customer without being required to arrange for lines to every point they wished to connect. OHN provides a similar solution for data networking in Oregon by requiring a high quality of service from each end user location to a common data switching location that all participants can connect to directly. That single broadband connection then permits reliable broadband connectivity with every other end user location connected to the switch with guaranteed high quality of service.

This high quality broadband data connectivity is quite different from that of the public Internet. Because the Internet is not a single network but is the result of interconnecting a large number of independent networks throughout the world, no Internet Service Provider (ISP) can control the quality of service except on its own portion of the complex network. Consequently, all ISP contracts are “best efforts” contracts with no guarantees of the amount or quality of data transport provided. Since all of the major Internet connection points on the west coast of the United States are in California or Washington, almost all Oregon Internet traffic is routed out of state and goes through up to 20 “routers” (the data networking equivalent of telephone switches) before getting from one Oregon destination to another.

The lack of quality of service guarantees for Internet services has made the public Internet unsuitable for real-time medical applications, including telemedicine consults and real time medical education applications. (Health facilities are using the Internet for some of these applications, but the consistent complaints about lack of quality have severely limited the amount of use for these purposes.) The OHN makes it possible to obtain the economic advantages of Internet-like packet switched data transmission and the availability of connections to a very large number of sites, while retaining the quality of service that was previously available only on dedicated leased lines.

The basic OHN technical plan is simple: OHN arranges for its participants to contract with telecommunications vendors to provide a guaranteed amount of guaranteed quality data capacity, in increments of 10 or 100 megabits (Mb) per second, up to 1 gigabit (Gb) per second from each end user location to an Oregon data switching facility in Portland, the Northwest Access Exchange (NWAX), that permits connectivity with any other OHN end user site. NWAX also permits each end user site to connect with many other sites throughout Oregon that already exchange data traffic through NWAX. Thus, one connection from a rural clinic would be sufficient for it to reach any other medical facility in Oregon with high quality service. Even though different telecommunications vendors provide service to different facilities in different parts of the state, the guaranteed availability and quality of service on each link to the central switch will be sufficient to ensure that the end-to-end connection between any two end points will permit reliable real-time medical consultations and procedures.

The OHN Network Operations Center (NOC), operated under contract to OHN by EasyStreet Online Services of Beaverton, Oregon, is monitoring the network in real time to ensure that each telecommunications vendor meets the contractually committed quality of service guarantees on its portion of the network. OHN participants may contact the NOC staff to obtain assistance whenever they have technical network problems. The NOC staff will work with the telecom vendors involved to identify and isolate any problems and determine which telecom vendor is responsible. Without this NOC monitoring capability, individual sites with unsatisfactory service would not be able to prove to their telecom vendors that they were not getting the quality of service they contracted for.

OHN does not specify whether the data transport services are provided by MPLS, SONET, Ethernet or other means. The end user interfaces are specified as Internet Protocol (IP) over Ethernet, with contractually guaranteed Quality of Service (QoS) with respect to service availability (99.99%), transit delay, packet loss and jitter (variability in time of arrival of data packets). How the carriers transport the data packets and meet their QoS commitments is up to each carrier and may differ from carrier to carrier. Each participant site contracts for the amount of capacity required, in increments of 10 or 100 Mbs, with the amount of capacity contractually committed (not an unenforceable “up to” amount). In other words, each OHN participant contracts for the amount of data transport capacity required at each end user site in the form of a virtual leased line with guaranteed quality of service. All data transport services for OHN are leased from telecommunications vendors. OHN is not constructing any fiber links, buried or aerial.

See Attached Statement of Financial Position.

ii. Identify the respective amounts and remaining time for such assistance.

This question is addressed in the answer above.

d. Explain how the selected participant's minimum 15 percent contribution is helping to achieve both the selected participant's identified goals and objectives and the overarching goals of the Pilot Program.

We have performed multiple surveys to participants in the RHCPP process, and continue to further our efforts to insure use of the connection and network. This outreach effort comes in the form of website development, printed materials, webinars, teleconferences, and face to face meetings. OHN makes active efforts to hear the organizations goals if they know them and help identify potential goals related to use of the network if they don't have the internal resources to do so on their own. Collectively, participants each have a different level of need, resources, staffing, and understanding, but they all need education and support to envision the use and value of a statewide network. OHN is providing this education and support and the participants 15% contribution engages them on this group effort. Having said that, more hospitals in particular, are embracing CMS's goal of the "Triple Aim" to improve patient outcomes, improve community health and reduce costs.

For the remainder of the requested information please see Attachment B.

9. Identify any technical or non-technical requirements or procedures necessary for ineligible entities to connect to the participant's network.

OHN is planning to connect ineligible entities to the network and currently has our first for-profit radiology clinic that has expressed interest in joining. All providers who are critical to the delivery of care should be on the OHN. However, we are targeting select provider types one at a time to address the current needs of participants to add the greatest value to the network, and to learn how to understand and enter new provider markets efficiently and successfully. Currently, we are specifically focused on efforts to bring on radiology clinics/labs, physician practices and long-term care facilities which support the continuum of patient care. This is a difficult undertaking but one in which OHN is committed to. OHN's intent is to identify a streamlined and scalable outreach model for new provider industries like these, these early adopter providers would agree to commit to helping OHN develop a winning model, value proposition and annual OHN Participation Fee Structure.

8. Provide an update on the project management plan, detailing:

a. The project's current leadership and management structure and any changes to the management structure since the last data report;

No changes have been made to the staff management or board structure since the last quarterly report. There has been some changes in the board personnel which is noted above but no changes in the structure of the board.

b. In the first quarterly report, the selected applicant should provide a detailed project plan and schedule. The schedule must provide a list of key project deliverables or tasks, and their anticipated completion dates. Among the deliverables, participants must indicate the dates when each health care provider site is expected to be connected to the network and operational. Subsequent quarterly reports should identify which project deliverables, scheduled for the previous quarter, were met, and which were not met. In the event a project deliverable is not achieved, or the work and deliverables deviate from the work plan, the selected participant must provide an explanation.

In follow up to last quarter's report, the staff and board continue to focus and deliver upon multiple parallel track priorities:

1. FCC RHCPP> Deployment, Fund Raising & Compliance

1. GOAL of 200 SITES: As OHN received an extension, as formally requested, to continue to obtain sites to spend down the remaining funds, through June 30, 2012, we continue to work towards our original goal of 200 sites, as outlined in the original initial FCC RHCPP application and sustainability plan for OHN. These sites are ones that best leverage and initiate strong "anchor tenant" communities" (hospitals, clinics, community colleges, radiology labs etc.) To date, including the 161 current funded sites, we have a total of 241 sites participating in the RHCPP process. The ability to now do so has a great amount to do with the FCC officially extending the 6/30/2010 deadline and our success in reducing attrition of those 241 sites. Of these:

- Letter's of Agreement: 335 (See Attachment C)
- Funding Commitment Letters Issued: 161, 44 FCL's
- Activity being monitored by the OHN Network Operations Center: 80

See Attachment D

- FUNDRAISING: Based upon the participant sites in our pipeline, we believe that we have enough matching funds to cover the remaining sites interested in benefitting from the RHCPP opportunity. Meanwhile, OHN will continue to look for private funding to support general operations, on-going research and development and , additional RHCPP-like funding to support connecting FCC in-eligible providers to connect to the network, OHN has a goal to cover all core operational costs with annual participation fee's and funding from new hosted services/applications to get us through the critical first and second stage of implementation. This strategy and transition path is best described below:

- ADVOCACY & GROWTH: As supported in the above graphic, OHN is seeking additional support from the FCC to continue the momentum of program deployment and connection of upwards of 300 total sites. The detailed and formal requests made from OHN to the FCC have been documented in formal filings. This request would allow OHN to deliver sustained funding support while sites are satisfying CMS Electronic Medical Records deployment mandate, provide time for sites to maximize use of available telemedicine and telehealth applications, and continue the momentum that OHN and the state of Oregon currently has in building the first telehealth network in the state.

- OPERATIONS > Organizational Development

- NETWORK OPERATIONS CENTER (NOC): The NOC was officially launched and actively monitoring OHN's first six (6) sites by the first week of November, 2009. Currently it is monitoring 100 sites. The NOC has been very successful in providing real-time monitoring and issue identification and resolution. As more sites get installed, the value of the NOC will increase.
- OPERATIONAL INFRASTRUCTURE OHN has invested in a MS CRM system to manage our significant client relationship content and workflows in order to reduce internal redundant work and to maximize our reporting capability. The addition of the CRM to our current MS Sharepoint system allows OHN to create indepth information on each site (customer), contacts, and sales/project opportunities. It also allows OHN to build onto our quality reporting capabilities to serve our customers and vested stakeholders including our legislative leadership.
- COMMUNICATIONS, CUSTOMER SERVICE & USE OF THE NETWORK (vendors & participating sites): In addition to all the web-based process improvement tools outlined above, the staff has created and deployed four (5) rotating webinar Orientations for participants and two (2) for vendors interested in or actively participating in the RHCPP process. Additional orientations are also in the process of development to assist in the use/adoption of the network, and in educating participants on the use/value of the NOC. The goal and purpose in creating these surround efforts to reduce the attrition of sites from the program by better educating and engaging all leadership within each provider organization early on in the process vs. at the end when they're signing vendor contracts. Additionally, it was designed to help streamline the RHCPP process as a whole which used to be upwards of 6-9 months, and now is around 3-6 from start to finish (FCL). With the pilot program being so interdependent upon all members (sites, OHN, USAC and the vendor), it has proven critical to consistently and proactively educate current and future sites, vendors and strategic partners on the value of OHN as well as the RHCPP process and what they need to do to keep the process moving forward as fast as possible, without impacting others in their RFP. With a staff of 7, and 161 participating sites and 10 vendors, efficient and proactive customer service and education is critical to OHN's ability to create a positive experience and secure participation. To date, these orientations have been extremely well received and attended, creating significant outreach and understanding of the program.

Additionally, as new sites have their broadband installed and are connected to the OHN Network Operations Center (NOC), it is becoming increasingly apparent that sites (providers) need help learning what to do with the connection once it's lit-up. Therefore, we continue to work on, develop and distribute clarified documentation such as that within our new "welcome packet" which overviews and further educates the sites (providers) on both the value of the network (technology and people), and specifically, suggestions on how to work with the OHN NOC and the site's vendors to get hooked up to the NOC, then to move existing traffic over to the OHN as well as to move current/future applications over to OHN. A specific new effort has been designed to leverage the hospital system sites in reaching out to other OHN community hospital participants to run existing affiliate partner services that are broadband dependent over OHN. This is proving quite effective. Then, as more sites come on, we continue to learn the extent to which sites need hand-holding in truly using, leveraging and experiencing the value of the network. Customer service and consulting experience is therefore, becoming increasingly important for OHN and/or a strategic partner of OHN to supply providers. The development of materials like this will no doubt continue as we learn what those needs are, and how we can ensure the network is used to build the momentum of use and interest critical to the value and long-term viability of the network. However, additional networking, business and telemedicine expertise is truly needed for sites on an ongoing basis and OHN will have to learn how to fill that need in a way that is both valuable and sustainable to both the site and OHN.

- STRATEGY > Long-term value and sustainability

- i. Adoption & Value of the Network: Through our new 12 Health IT Best Practices model and statewide on-site outreach, OHN staff continue to earn and cultivate the trust of our members to understand what their strategies and resources are, or are not, to better assist them in acquiring/perfecting them to achieve full use, adoption and benefit of their connection. We have incorporated pre-turn-up testing protocols, to assist OHN participants who already have some form of telemedicine/telehealth or outreach program in place, to run “before and after” tests on their new connection. This is a critical first step in educating and assisting internal participant site staff and departments in experiencing what OHN can do for their day to day clinical and core operational environments. These sorts of tests are also critical for OHN to acquire and disseminate across the OHN community to build strong case studies for those who are struggling with full implementation and use of their new connection.
- ii. State’s Health Information Exchange (HIE) Solution: As mentioned in the previous quarter’s reports, while the RHCPP rolls out in Oregon through OHN, the State’s Health Information Technology Oversight Council (HITOC) has also been working hard to create and implement the State’s first Health Information Exchange (HIE) strategy and plan. This has involved and resulted in a massive outreach and stakeholder involvement effort on the part of HITOC; and one of which OHN has been and continues to be greatly involved in and supportive of. Within the plan, OHN is identified in multiple sections as the core broadband network identified to potentially support the State’s HIE solution. As a newcomer organization to the scene, OHN has worked hard throughout the year to be part of the State’s HIE solution and state-wide discussion, but our efforts and interest in building strong relationships, and educating the community at large, seem to have proven successful at this time. HITOC leadership has embraced OHN, and the critical role we can play as the required and chosen network foundation to support their final HIE solution. The announcement, development and surrounding activity of the State HIE solution has also proven most timely in terms of solidifying and/or expanding the value proposition for OHN’s outreach efforts to providers who remain “on the fence.” As the State’s identified HIE broadband infrastructure “highway,” which will support the exchange of electronic health care records and health information exchange across the state, it’s proving more important than ever for providers of all sizes to consider joining OHN to transfer/exchange those records on with other OHN participants/members.

9. Project Model Executive Summary

- After the conclusion of the Rural Health Care Pilot Program (RHCPP), OHN participants will continue to pay annual participation fees to support OHN operations, including common network elements not included in telecommunications vendor charges.
- OHN participants sign participation agreements that include a statement of their intention to continue to participate after the RHCPP is concluded.
- Post RHCPP, OHN participants will continue to be customers of telecommunications vendors for transport links from their sites to the OHN interconnection location. Urban participants will pay their full costs and eligible rural participants will pay the costs not subsidized by the Primary Universal Service Fund (USF) rural health care program, unless OHN is granted our request to the FCC to obtain 5 more years of funding support and adjustments are made within the new Rural Health Care Policy to continue supporting urban providers with their monthly recurring costs (MRC).

- RHCPP telecommunications vendors paid from RHCPP funds for construction charges to reach rural sites will be required to offer contract renewal options for time periods after the RHCPP.
- OHN will provide centralized administrative support for eligible rural sites to participate in the Primary Rural Health Care Program. New competitive procurements will determine whether more cost-effective solutions than those provided by renewal options are available.

Additionally, OHN has is very pleased to have identified it's first hosted solution to encourage the fastest and best use/adoption of the network: a video bridge/conferencing solution lead by Oregon State University. We are in the final stages of implementing this flexible and convenient solution which is very competitive/affordable, "easy" to use/operate for participants but not a hardship to OHN's internal staff/technical infrastructure, exhibits the highest level of performance and ultimately assists active participants in fully utilizing and benefitting from their hardware, software and network connectivity (OHN network) investments.

Please refer to Attachment B

11. Provide detail on how the supported network has complied with HHS health IT initiatives:

- Explain how the supported network has used health IT systems and products that meet interoperability standards recognized by the HHS Secretary;
See below

b. Explain how the supported network has used health IT products certified by the Certification Commission for Healthcare Information Technology;

2011 has produced a significant number of OHN participants going through the final RFP's time is allowing under the current June 30, 2012 deadline. OHN has continued to get funded sites through their installation process and connected to our NOC. In parallel, through our outreach efforts, OHN has continued to learn and understand what providers intend to use the network for. Some are very sophisticated and clear in what applications and intended uses of the network. Others are still very unclear, and from their lack of clarity, OHN is working to identify strategic partnerships, best practices and communications solutions to assist sites in developing sound strategies for the network. An overview of what we learned the intended uses to be in the spring survey effort included but were not limited to:

- Telemedicine & HIT Applications
  - Utilize video conference technology for training or consultations
  - Utilize new technologies dependent upon high-speed, reliable broadband technology
  - Most common uses/interests:
    - Continuing medical education (CME)
    - Diagnosis (tele-radiology; mental health, routine clinical consultations)
    - Emergency consultation & triage
    - Follow-up
    - Administrative
- Operational Efficiency
  - Improve file transfer times
  - Ability to bring in services from other partners that were previously unavailable due to bandwidth constraints
  - Faster and more reliable connectivity to data center/server locations for improved processing times
- Increase and/or Improve upon State-wide Referral Patterns
  - Hospitals
  - Clinics
  - Payers
  - Public Health
  - Community Colleges
  - Allied Health/Long-term Care Facilities
  - Pharmacies

c. Explain how the supported network has supported the Nationwide Health Information Network (NHIN) architecture by coordinating activities with organizations performing NHIN trial implementations;

In these critical first two and a half years of getting participants through the RHCPP process and on the network, no direct/active effort has yet been made to address the NHIN architecture. Having said that, preliminary research and discussions have taken place both internally within OHN, and with the State as the State clarifies and implements it's HIE solution which currently leverages the NHIN architecture.

- d. Explain how the supported network has used resources available at HHS's Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) National Resource Center for Health Information Technology;

See response to 11a and b above.

- 2. Explain how the selected participant has educated themselves concerning the Pandemic and All Hazards Preparedness Act and coordinated with the HHS Assistant Secretary for Public Response as a resource for telehealth inventory and for the implementation of other preparedness and response initiatives; and

- f. Explain how the supported network has used resources available through HHS's Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Public Health Information Network (PHIN) to facilitate interoperability with public health and emergency organizations.

See 11b above.

- 12. Explain how the selected participants coordinated in the use of their health care networks with the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and, in particular, with its Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in instances of national, regional, or local public health emergencies (e.g., pandemics, bioterrorism). In such instances, where feasible, explain how selected participants provided access to their supported networks to HHS, including CDC, and other public health officials.

There are three areas that OHN has focused upon to meet these core goals of the RHCPP:

1. Governance and membership composition restructure that has included the addition of a Department of Health Services (newly named Oregon Health Authority) board seat. This will be critical in better communicating and aligning OHN's goals and objectives to that of the State's.
2. Continued development of our MS Sharepoint portal system for board, committee, staff, site and vendors – OHN has a technological communication framework that could easily be used with HHS and CDC etc. to post and distribute national alerts through the OHN community state-wide ability through our newly developed OHN Portal to quickly contact all participating sites in case of a national, regional, or local public health emergency.
3. Working with state and local governments to be part of the conversation of an integrated system. OHN is actively engaged in this effort and is looking forward to be part of these conversations and strategy setting. Meetings with the Governor's advisors have occurred this past quarter to align the goals and benefits of OHN to that of the State's newly defined "cluster priority" outcomes (goals). OHN directly and indirectly supports 4 out of the 15 goals. Therefore, there is a significant amount of opportunity and interest growing in the state to leverage OHN as a core state infrastructure to help the state do more and better with less. Given the very serious situation Oregon faces with a $3.8b deficit, all state agencies are being tasked to do more with less and very interested with solutions. We believe that with OHN we can do that and more – we can do even better than before.

Thank you.
